

Selected articles, publications by Jon Neiditz

- “Email: Risky Business,” Resource Magazine (November 2005)
- “Addressing Privacy, Security Risks in Email Management and Retention,” Thompson’s Employer’s Guide to HIPAA Privacy Requirements (November 2005)
- “Privacy and the U.S. Workforce,” Practising Law Institute (June 2005)
- “Strategically Aligning the Implementation of Consumer-Directed Healthcare and HIPAA,” PricewaterhouseCoopers (2002)
- “Managing the Privacy of Employee Health Information,” International Association of Privacy Professionals (2002)
- “Analysis of the August 14, 2002 Final Privacy Modification Rule,” PricewaterhouseCoopers (2002)
- “HIPAA’s Myths, Practical Realities and Opportunities: The Work Providers Need to Perform for Standard Transactions and Code Sets,” Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association (2001)
- “The EEOC’s New Mental Disability Guidelines,” and “Attacking the Disability and Absenteeism Epidemic,” Benefits Quarterly, Fourth Quarter (1997)
- “Comprehensive State Health Reform Initiatives,” Benefits Quarterly, Third Quarter (1993)
- “Design of Legal Audits for Utilization Management,” Benefits Quarterly, Fourth Quarter (1991)
- "Discovering E-Discovery," Rough Notes Magazine (October 2006)
- "Minimizing Litigations and Investigations by Managing E-Records," Insurance Journal (May 2006)
- "E-Discovery Issues Forcing Firms to Review E-Mail Storage Plans," NAPSLO News (April 2006)
- "Warning: Watch Your (Email) Mouth," National Underwriter (February 2006)
- "Email: Risky Business?," Rough Notes Magazine (November 2005)

- "Information Security In The Workplace May Get Worse Before It Gets Better," All-Star Briefing, Practising Law Institute (PLI) (June 2005)